Let's Talk Science (LTS) is an award-winning, national, charitable organization. LTS volunteers deliver science learning programs and services that turn children and youth on to science, keep them engaged in learning and develop their potential to become 21st century citizens, innovators and stewards.

The goal of the Education Community Outreach Centre is to reduce attrition rates in science by stimulate young people's interest in science with the ultimate goal of encouraging more children and youth to pursue STEM courses and careers.

You can become a member of the Queen's Education Community Outreach Let's Talk Science team. Working with Let's Talk Science experts from main campus (biology, physics, chemistry, and engineering), you will visit classrooms across Southeastern Ontario to deliver exciting hands-on curriculum to classrooms.

This unique collaboration provides a unique opportunity for you to hone your science teaching skills and acquire a rich suite of curriculum-aligned, hands-on science activities to use in the future with your own students.
