Programs Leading to the Bachelor of Education Degree or the Diploma in Education

The Faculty of Education offers several post-degree graduate programs leading to the Bachelor of Education Degree, the Diploma in Education, the Master of Arts (Graduate Studies) in Education, or the Certificate of Qualifications in Teacher Education. Students are introduced to core concepts in such areas as educational theory, research, and practice, as well as opportunities for professional development. The programs are designed to prepare students for careers as teachers in elementary and secondary schools, and for roles in leadership and administration.

Primary-Junior Option
This program is designed for candidates who wish to begin their teaching career in elementary schools. Candidates are prepared to teach all subjects for the primary and junior divisions (Grades 1 to 6).

Intermediate-Senior Option
This program prepares candidates to teach in the intermediate division (Grades 7 to 9) and the senior division (Grades 10 to 12). It is designed to address the specific needs of students in these divisions.

English Language Requirement
Candidates must be able to communicate effectively in both oral and written English. They must also have a strong foundation in literature, reading, and writing.

equity Admission
Education programs in the Faculty of Education are competitive due to the limited number of places available. Candidates are selected based on their academic performance and potential for success in the field of education.

Theological Education Option
This option is designed for candidates who wish to pursue a career in religious education or pastoral care. It includes courses in theological studies, religious education, and pastoral care.

Concurrent Teacher Education

In a concurrent teacher education program, a student can complete a second degree in a subject of interest and in the same state or a related field of study. The student must have a bachelor's degree in the subject of interest and must complete a second degree in a related field of study. The program consists of two main components:

1. Concurrent Teacher Education Program
2. Second Degree Program

The Concurrent Teacher Education Program is designed to prepare students for teaching in a variety of educational settings, including K-12 schools, community colleges, and universities. The program includes coursework in professional education, including classroom management, instructional strategies, and curriculum development. The second degree program is designed to provide students with a deeper understanding of a specific field of study, such as mathematics, science, or social studies. The program includes coursework in the second field of study and may include field experiences and student teaching.

Specific Requirements

To be eligible for the Concurrent Teacher Education Program, students must meet the following requirements:

1. Complete a bachelor's degree in a subject of interest
2. Complete a second degree program in a related field of study
3. Complete coursework in professional education
4. Complete field experiences and student teaching

Program components are subject to change without notice.
