

Dear Alumni,

My name is Maeve Stemp, and I am this year's Director of Sponsorship for the Queen's Conference on Education. The conference is fast approaching, and we are looking forward to welcoming back delegates to Duncan-McArthur in February! The Queen's Conference on Education has been a staple to the Education programs for more than twenty years. We hope that many of you have had a chance to experience the conference first-hand, have heard positive feedback from those who have attended, or maybe even presented at the conference!

Queen's Conference on Education (QCE) is a student-run professional development conference for post-secondary students who share an interest, and passion, in the field of education. We are a non-profit event that aims to provide an opportunity to network, grow, and learn about what is new and needed in education. Throughout the course of the conference weekend, delegates will have the opportunity to attend two keynote addresses, participate in a wide range of interactive workshops, and attend a closing banquet. The conference will be taking place on February 4th and 5th 2023.

We understand this is a very difficult time to be giving monetary donations, but any amount will help make the conference more beneficial to future educators. Financial accessibility for our delegates are of our utmost concern, and every donation helps make QCE more accessible. If this is of interest to you, please email qce_sponsorship@cesa.queensu.ca for more information.

Best,
Maeve Stemp
Director of Sponsorship
Queen's Conference on Education 2022-2023
Concurrent Education Students' Association (CESA)
qce_sponsorship@cesa.queensu.ca
705 471 3582

The Concurrent Education Student Association acknowledges that Queen's University is situated on traditional Anishinaabe and Haudenosaunee territory.