

let's talk physics symposium

Monday, December 5th, 2016
at Queen's University

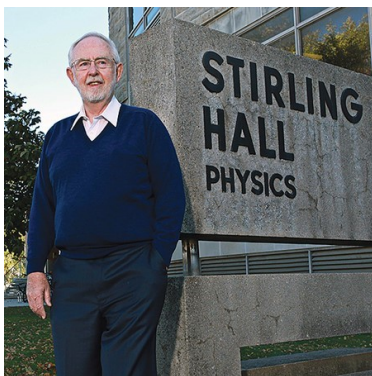

Are your students interested in...

...discovering what it's like to be a physicist?

...participating in amazing physics demonstrations?

...having fun while learning about different career opportunities for physics students?

Then our symposium is for you! We will be hosting:

- Talks by graduate students and professors
- Tours of laboratories and the campus observatory
- Hands-on physics demonstrations
- An overall unique and engaging learning experience

For more information or to register, contact our Recruitment Coordinator
Sean Begy: 14sbkb@queensu.ca

Or visit: <http://outreach.letstalkscience.ca/queensu/local-programs/on-campus-events/lets-talk-physics>

